

Position Statement on Water Conservation

Baker Hughes prioritizes minimizing the environmental impact of our operations across our facilities. Water conservation is essential to preserving the environment, biodiversity, human health and sustainable development. We commit to conserving and protecting freshwater resources throughout our operations. Our water management and conservation policies outline appropriate compliance requirements, how to analyze water risks, monitor water utilization, and implement water conservation best practices. We publish our key performance indicators of water utilization annually in our Corporate Sustainability Report.